4 Is this acceptable? How can Govt have a claim on another man's insurance amt for this. applicant's defaults if any!

3.3.20

5 The surety is liable in the same way as the principal on the latter's default. If the amount in Col 6 be recovered out of the Principal's bonus, if any, there seems to be no objection to sp.

Private the Surety's terms as well in the event of the Govt. dues not being recovered from the principal -

Life Insurance policies are not attachable in Court, and cannot be accepted as collateral security -

Whether Govt can recover any portion of its dues out of the Insurance terms at all is a legal matter.

As a matter of practice however, all sums claim due Govt are obtained before the insurance terms is paid -

The Govt advocate may be consulted.

I do not think we need 9.3.20.
Consult the Govt Advocate. Apart from any legal objn I think it is undesirable to make the insurance terms of one officer liable for the debts of another. We may say the Collateral Security offered is not acceptable

Security may be of 2 kinds personal or property —

In accepting personal security one has to consider the credit and solvency of the person, and the fact that the security offered is a permanent employee who has insured as for below the solvency of the person — The life insurance bonus of that person is not ~~made absolute~~ also primarily liable for the principal debt.

If personal security other than that is refused in case like these the privilege of obtaining for house building advances by of employees not on the permanent staff is limited to cases where property other than the site and building which erected thereon is offered as security — Such cases will apparently be few.

I do not object with reference to the statement that Mr. K. S. Murti has insured his life in the M.S.L. Scheme made in Col 10 of the application - If the insurance and can not be touched what is the significance or value of this statement? If it is permissible to accept only personal security I have no objection

11) So far as I can see there is no prohibition to accept as security a person who has not insured his life in the M. S. L. S provided his credit is otherwise good and there is guarantee of the Govt being duly repaid.

The mention of the fact of Mr K.S Murthy having insured was merely to show that the security was quite acceptable from the point of view above stated.

With this explanation there is no objection to the h. b advance being sanctioned, the draft sanction may be approved.

Mention of the qualification who has insured his life' to be taken out and in the draft.
